My wife and children fare you well
I can no longer with you dwell
Turn your thoughts to God on high
And try to meet me in the sky
Restrain your tears pray shed no more
Because your father's gone before
In love he lived in peace he died,
His life was asked but was denied.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF PALMYRA - By RAY S. BOWMAN PAST PRES.-LEB CO. HISTORICAL SOCIETY

As the town grew, stores and small business establishments were opened. Joseph Horstick, son of Conrad, kept a store on what was known as the Witmer property on West Main Street. The building has since been torn down and dismantled. The account books of the store from 1813-1825 show the price and type of goods sold at a typical country store. The books are now in the Library of the Lebanon County Historical Society, through the courtesy of the Horstick family.

Other stores and business establishments were opened: Brunner Carriage Shop, John Henry Plow Factory, Stahle Wooden Farm Implements, Snoddy Wheelwright Shop, Forney-Troxell Furniture and Cabinet Shop (later known as Wm. A. Henry, Furnutre and Undertaking), saddle and harness shops, tailor shops, and the Hemperly Organ Factory.

Joshua Charles Snoddy, son of William and Mary (Clark) Snoddy, born January 30, 1842, at Palmyra, Dauphin county, and received his education in the schools of his birthplace. At the age of sixteen he began to learn the trade of a wheelwright, serving an apprenticeship with his father, and in 1860 went to Harrisburg, where he was employed by the firm of W. T. Hildrup & Company. While in their service he built the first lot of government wagons used in the civil war, in 1863 was made foreman of the framing department and thenceforth remained with the company for a period of fourteen years. At the end of that time he moved to Susquehanna township, near Linglestown, Pennsylvania, established a shop of his own and carried on the business seven years, after which he returned to his former employer at Harrisburg, remaining two years. In 1884 he moved to, Penbrook and once more established himself in the wheelwright business, which he has ever since successfully conducted, also erecting a comfortable and attractive dwelling. He has served twenty years on the board of election and in politics is a staunch Republican. He is a member of the United Brethren church, and was among those who helped to build the Penbrook church edifice. Notes for LELA FLORENCE SMYSER:

Lela "Trash Can Annie" SMYSER SNODDY - Her name was Lela SMYSER SNODDY but many knew her as "Trash Can Annie."

Vicki VELT wrote to say even though SNODDY was her great aunt, she knew her by her nickname before she learned the two were related.

"Her husband, Fred, and my grandfather, Roy SNODDY, were brothers," VELT explained. "She and Uncle Fred use (sic) to have a farm near Smithville. They never had any children. My mother remembers that she was a terrific cook, a kind person and a hard worker. After Uncle Fred died in 1955, Lela moved to Wooster -- her house still stands just north of West Liberty Street."

VELT said no one in her family can remember when SNODDY started wandering the streets, rummaging through garbage cans looking for food for the cats that came to her back door or for trinkets to hang in her windows.

"I recall one time when my grandmother and I visited to bring her food and try to help her. Her mind wandered back to when she was on the farm. She would talk about needing to take care of her sheep," said VELT. "I was very young and could not understand why she talked as if she was still living on her farm. At that time the word Alzheimer's was not known -- but as I look back and remember her, I can only guess that she probably suffered from this disease or perhaps dementia. "When Aunt Lela died in 1963 she left the majority of her estate to the Wooster Hospital, the Children's Home, and her church. To the end," VELT pointed out, "she was still thinking about taking care of others."

Speaking of Lela SNODDY, did you know there used to be a musical group called "Trash Can Annie"? Members of the group were brothers and former Wooster residents John and Jim BRINKERHOFF, along with Butch CASSADY. John BRINKERHOFF was the drummer and lead vocalist, Jim BRINKERHOFF, guitarist and background vocalist and CASSADY, bass, keyboards and background vocalist.

Wooster musician Rich BALL was a mentor early in the BRINKERHOFFS' career and showed me the cover of one of the group's CDs called "Pass the Trash." Ball said he attended a reunion gig by the BRINKERHOFFS last year at the Iron Pony in Loudonville. It had been 30 years since Ball last heard them play at the Madisonburg Grange Hall.

On the "Pass the Trash" CD, the group gives thanks to a long list of people including "'Annie,' wherever you are."

Marv's Comments: The above article was taken from The Daily Times of Wooster, Ohio dated June 6, 2008. You just never know when you are making a lasting impression on some one. This Lady, Lela "Trash Can Annie" SMYSER SNODDY, impressed this young music group enough for them to name their group after her.

the Colorado story - Added by pcurmode on 11 Aug 2007

In the 1900 Census, Wayne Twp, Wayne Co, OH, Philip Snoddy was 29 and married 6 years to Ida. Listed as a farmer. By the 1910 Census the family was living in Ordway, Otero, Colorado. Philip had heard something about getting rich by potato farming in Colorado, so he loaded the family up in a wagon and made the long trek West. Also with Philip, Ida, Mary, Robert, and Ruth, was Albert A. Berger, the Berger's were cousins. The potato farming never materialized. During this time Roy Adams came out to CO to bring his love, Mary Snoddy, home with him. don't know if she came home with him or came home with the family. Roy and Mary married. (Pene's maternal grandparents).

"In the 1900 Census, Wayne Twp, Wayne Co, OH, Philip Snoddy was 29 and married 6 years to Ida. Listed as a farmer. By the 1910 Census the family was living in Ordway, Otero, Colorado. Philip had heard something about getting rich by potato farming in Colorado, so he loaded the family up in a wagon and made the long trek West. Also with Philip, Ida, Mary, Robert, and Ruth, was Albert A. Berger, the Berger's were cousins. The potato farming never materialized. During this time Roy Adams came out to CO to bring his love, Mary Snoddy, home with him. Don't know if she came home with him or came home with the family. Roy and Mary married.
